PROVA 1

Situated in the North of Italy, in the heart of the most prosperous part of Europe, Lombardy represents a bridge to the Mediterranean. It is located in a strategic position, along the main route linking eastern and western Europe. A population of nearly 10 million inhabitants, distributed over an area of 24,000 square kilometres, makes this region in many ways similar to a nation in its own right. Lombardy is divided in 11 provinces, 1 metropolitan area (Milan) and 1523 municipalities. Milan is the capital of Lombardy. It is a dynamic and competitive reality that, thanks to its geographic position and the resourcefulness of its inhabitants, is a privileged actor in the international market.

PROVA 2

Lombardy produces 20.6% of the national added value: first place in Italy and fourth place in Europe. Thanks to its fortunate geographical setting and its dynamic business system, it is also the first Italian region both for its volume and value of commercial exchange with foreign markets. The privileged geographic position and the inclination of its people have allowed Lombardia to operate on the national and international scene as an accredited dynamic interlocutor from an economic point of view, and to become one of the most industrialised areas in Europe.

PROVA 3

Design is another asset of the Lombard economic system's excellence, and one of its main symbols is represented by one of the headquarters of the Lombardia Region itself, the Pirelli skyscraper 127 metres tall, designed in post-war times by architect and designer Giò Ponti, with its unique "diamond" shape it represents a masterpiece of contemporary architecture. The extraordinary quality of the constructive elements' design and its technical, structural, functional and aesthetic characteristics award this tower significant international consequence.

In the center is a coat of arms. Overlaid on the stamp and to its right are several handwritten signatures in blue ink, including a large stylized signature and a smaller one below it.

At the beginning of 2020, Italy had an estimated population of 60.3 million. Its population density, at nearly two hundred inhabitants per square kilometre, is higher than that of most Western European countries. However, the distribution of the population is widely uneven ; the most densely populated areas are the Po Valley (that accounts for almost half of the national population) in northern Italy and the metropolitan areas of Rome and Naples in central and southern Italy, while other vast areas are very sparsely populated, like the plateaus of Basilicata, the Alps and Apennines highlands, and the island of Sardinia.

The population of Italy almost doubled during the twentieth century, but the pattern of growth was extremely uneven due to large-scale internal migration from the rural South to the industrial cities of the North, a phenomenon which happened as a consequence of the Italian economic miracle of the 1950–1960s. In addition, after centuries of net emigration, from the 1980s Italy has experienced large-scale immigration for the first time in modern history. According to the Italian government, there were more than five million foreign nationals resident in Italy on 1st of January 2019

In Italy high fertility and birth rates persisted until the 1970s, after which they started to dramatically decline, leading to rapid population aging. At the end of the first decade of the 21st century, one in five Italians was over 65 years old. However, as a result of the massive immigration of the last two decades, Italy has, in recent years, experienced a significant growth in birth rates. The total fertility rate has also climbed from an all-time low of 1.18 children per woman in 1995 to 1.41 in 2008.

PROVA 7

When exploring New York City, there are several different options for activities during a day trip. Some visitors come to see a show, visit art museums, or simply to shop in many of the city's high-end retailers. However, many tourists simply come to New York City for the sightseeing. One of the most visited landmarks in New York City is the Empire State Building.

The Empire State Building, constructed in 1931, is the ninth highest building in the world, and the fourth tallest structure in the United States. It is located in Midtown, Manhattan. This skyscraper is an iconic symbol of the city, having been featured in over 90 popular movies (as of 2018) throughout film history. Tourists come from all over the world to visit this building and view the city from its famous observation decks.

The Lombardy healthcare system is well known for its high standards and efficiency. There are over 200 private and public accredited hospitals and 18 research hospitals (IRCCS). The majority of hospitals are run by the Lombardy Health Service, while about 22.4% of beds are located in private hospitals, either profit or not-for-profit.

The healthcare professionals are committed to providing safe and excellent clinical care, and a strong orientation towards "quality" is a notable feature of the majority of healthcare organisations within the region.

Quality and Safety is the chief priority of the Lombardy healthcare system. Lombardy guarantees high-quality health services and attracts a substantial number of patients from other parts of the country.

The Lombardy healthcare system is an accredited system and the regional Government is responsible for organising and managing the regional accreditation process, and for granting authorisation for delivering healthcare services based on quality standards.

Both public and private hospitals are subject to the same accreditation pathways and control systems. Since the late 1990's, the regional Government has established financial incentives for hospitals that have developed quality improvement projects and, in the 2000's, regional programmes were launched to support quality improvement in all healthcare facilities of the region.

In a seminal paper published in 1999 referring to the US context, George Borjas suggested that welfare generosity could act as a “magnet” for migration, influencing the intensity and composition of flows, and immigrants' residential choices . After more than two decades and extensive research in different contexts, the empirical evidence on the “welfare magnet hypothesis” is somewhat mixed. Some studies reject this hypothesis; others, however, document the existence of a moderate welfare magnet effect for selected subpopulations of immigrants.
